The Village of Arlington Heights, Ohio

"A Hometown Kind of Place"

Please be advised that Fireworks are still illegal in the State of Ohio.

The Ohio House passed a bill which, if passed by Ohio Senate, would allow Ohioans to purchase and legally explode them in the State.

This Bill did not pass in the Ohio Senate.

The only items that can be used in Ohio are Trick and novelty items that produce smoke, pop and/or sparkle.

We are pleased to Announce

The Village of Arlington Heights

History Room

Grand Opening, September 25th

(Car Show and Festival Night)

"History is not a burden on the memory but an illumination of the soul"

- John Dalberg-Acton

The Village of Arlington Heights is excited to present their history room to the public this fall. The permanent exhibit is located on the first floor of town hall in the old police chief's office. This will be interesting for everyone in the village whether you've lived here your whole life or just moved in. Come relive the glory days or learn more about what this town used to be like.

Some features of the history room include the creation of the village, our former police and fire departments, notable residents, and countless photographs.

Our first open house will take place on September 25th during the village car show and festival.

Come share your own memories and photos of Arlington Heights.

We are excited to see you all there!
